Associate Professor Donata Kurpas

Dear Donata

Patronage for the 7th International Medical Science Pulse Conference organised by the Public Higher Medical Professional School in Opole

The International Medical Science Pulse Conference is an annual scientific event of international standing, which aims to support the development of science. The conference provides the opportunity for the exchange of Polish and foreign experiences in the international environment of researchers, magazine editors, publishers, representatives of renowned indexing databases and other professionals, who are working towards the goal of conducting scientific research and sharing it openly. As well as there is an opportunity to make scientific research more accessible and to identify commercial opportunities. Therefore, large numbers of participants are recruited from various environments working directly in science and for science. Lectures are accompanied by a scientific debate, a presentation of research results by scientists from various scientific and educational institutions, and specialised workshops for those interested.

The conference is well prepared in terms of organisation, all interested participants are provided with conference materials in English. Special attention is placed on interactions with world science luminaries, young scientists as well as students interested in a prospective career in science.

I believe that the conference should be continued as it is a unique scientific and educational event providing an opportunity to exchange views, experiences and practical tips on conducting scientific work and disseminating science. The integration of various environments – universities, research, and business institutions – is an opportunity, especially for researchers, to establish relationships and to promote science in the context of social progress and economic development.

Hereby it is my pleasure to confirm the patronage of EURIPA for the 7th International Medical Science Pulse Conference.

With kind regards and best wishes for a successful conference
